Flood Victims Row to High Ground

A small boat crowded with women and children arrives at a high point on Des Moines river at Ottumwa, Ia., as Army and Navy rescue workers stand by to lend a helping hand. The passengers were among the 20,000 persons forced to evacuate their homes as the raging torrent swept through the town. At least 15 persons are believed dead in the flood-stricken area.

Throng Hails Plea For Split Tax Bill

The Community Property Bill will save Massachusetts taxpayers from $32,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year in federal income tax levies and is "the most important piece of legislation of this session," Rep. Peter J. Jordan, Republican whip in the House and co-sponsor of the measure, told a jam-packed public hearing at the State House today.

"This is our opportunity to do something for the people," Rep. Jordan told members of the joint legislative committee on taxation at an opening meeting thronged by legislators, public and civic leaders, who enthusiastically endorsed the measure.

The hearing, originally scheduled for Room 248 in the State House, was transferred to Room 346, the building's largest hearing room, to accommodate the crowd.

Rep. Louis Lobel of Brighton, House chairman of the committee, gave representatives present an opportunity to be recorded on the measure before the hearing started. Reps. Daniel J. Brennan of Boston, J. Arthur Sheehan of Brockton, and Archie Bruce of Springfield, immediately recorded themselves in favor of the bill.

Rep. Jordan and Rep. David M.

Mayor Curley Sen. Edw. Rowe

Cleary of Charlestown, co-sponsor of the proposed legislation, were the first two speakers. Jordan told the committee that the law has been highly successful in California and that federal income tax savings for California residents under the measure have reached as high as $200,000,000.

"The people we represent send us here to do our duty as representatives," Rep. Jordan said. "What they want us to do can be stated in six words. Those words are, 'What can you do for me?'"

"Here now, once and for all, we have that opportunity to do something for the people. We can keep industry here and save the residents of this Commonwealth that revenue which has been going to other parts of the country."

"This bill is not a brainstorm on the part of Messrs. Jordan and Cleary. This is legislation that has been taken from the pages of another book. This bill has been adopted in at least 10 other states. There are those who may have other ideas about this bill, and rightfully so. They will have opportunity to state their views. But when all views are summed up, this measure remains something that we are doing for the people."

With Mayor Curley already recorded in favor, the Boston City Council, representing 850,000 citizens, voted solidly to support the measure.

Under suspension of rules, the council adopted by unanimous vote, a resolution urging passage of the bill. The resolution was introduced by Councilor William J. Keenan, of Ward 17, who told his colleagues the bill would prove a great benefit to wage earners.

Truman's Train Nears Canada

ABOARD PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPECIAL TRAIN, en route to Ottawa, June 10 (AP)—President Truman journeyed to Canada today in the role of a friendly neighbor.

He took his wife and daughter along for a three-day visit in Ottawa where he will address the Canadian Parliament tomorrow.

The United States Chief Executive was in the best of spirits as he boarded his 11-car special train in Washington.

He left until after his return to Washington Friday a decision on a $4,000,000,000 tax reduction and new curbs for labor unions. Bills embodying these changes were sent up to the White House by a Republican-controlled Congress last week.

He concentrated, instead, on plans to set another example to the world of how the peoples of the Western Hemisphere live together in peace and harmony, negotiating differences if any arise.

Martin Would Pave Way For Congress Recall

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Speaker Martin of Massachusetts said today that when Congress adjourns, as it hopes to do next month, it should leave the way open for its own leaders to recall it into session if necessary. Martin favored a resolution providing for a special session at the order of party leaders in both the Senate and the House, Wartime Congresses adopted such resolutions.

Hungary Pursues Anti-Reds' Purge

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Dispatches from Budapest suggested today that the Communist-dominated Hungarian government was widening its purge of dissident elements on several fronts.

The Communist newspaper Szabadsag said the "resistance certificates" of nearly 200 persons, including government and church officials, would be reviewed by a special committee under the Prime Minister's office.

Among those facing loss of these certificates—which indicate the holders opposed the Germans during the war—were Dezo Sulyok, head of the Freedom party whose newspaper recently was banned; Assembly Speaker Bela Varga, a member of the Smallholders party, and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary.

Others facing possible loss of their lands if the committee should decide they did not work against the Nazis, Szabadsag said, were Lajos Shvoy, Catholic bishop of Szekesfehervar; Count Geza Teleki, former minister of education, and Bela Pedanyi-Gulyas, head of the Smallholder party's political committee.

At the same time, the Hungarian Peoples' Court announced that 43 intellectuals—including doctors, lawyers and professors—would go on trial late this month on charges of conspiring to overthrow the Hungarian Republic.

The newspaper Vilag said Albert Szent-Gyorgi, Nobel Prize winner for vitamin C research, had recommended expulsion of 12 scientists from the Hungarian Academy of Science on the ground they were "reactionaries."

Vilag also quoted Istvan Ries, the Minister of Justice, as saying that a new election law was being written

Walsh Listed 'Critical But Not Hopeless'

Former U. S. Sen. David I. Walsh was in "critical but not hopeless" condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital today after suffering what was described as a cerebral hemorrhage.

Judge Thomas H. Connolly, Walsh's law partner, said attending physicians had authorized him to say that the former Senator had suffered what "might be described as a shock" and that he had "taken a bad turn" yesterday.

The 74-year-old veteran statesman entered St. Elizabeth's Cardinal O'Connell House six days ago for observation after spending a short time earlier at a Fitchburg hospital. He became exhausted after a recent motor trip to Canada and decided on a physical checkup.

Announcement of his condition followed by only a day the death of his sister, Mrs. Nellie E. Dooley, 79, of Bagnall st., Allston, for whom funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at St. Anthony's Church, Allston.

Former Sen. Walsh had served in the Senate for 26 years prior to his defeat in 1946 by Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. For nine years he had served as chairman of the powerful naval affairs committee and twice as Massachusetts governor.

Frederick D. Doyle demanded the recall of Patrick J. McCarthy, key defense witness thus far. McCarthy had testified yesterday that he overheard John Comoletti, government witness who charged Kelly with demanding $2500 to obtain a garage permit, talking in a Dorchester ave. diner last March about being paid to "go through" with his accusations.

As court convened today, McCarthy was not present and Doyle turned to Defense Atty. Timothy J. Murphy and asked if he was in the courtroom. The attorneys then went to the lobby of Judge V. Sullivan for a conference.

When they returned to the courtroom, Doyle addressed the bench, saying:

"The Commonwealth wished to recall the defense witness, Patrick J. McCarthy."

"When do you wish to examine him?" asked Judge Sullivan.

"At 2 p. m."

"Is he available Mr. Murphy?" asked the judge.

"I'll send someone for him," Murphy replied. "But I want it understood that we discussed this and mutually agreed to bring him back."

"That is true," the judge said, "and there is no reflection intended. But I thought it better to bring it out in open court."

First witness to take the stand was George L. Conway, of Clarkston st., Dorchester, partner of the defendant in the laundry business. Conway had testified yesterday he was present when Comoletti visited Kelly's home alone and asked his aid in seeking the garage permit. He said Kelly promised to help him if there was no opposition.

Questioned by Doyle, he said he saw nothing unusual about the conversation and thought no more of it until last March when he saw Comoletti's picture in a newspaper with a story about someone asking him for money to get him a garage permit.

Q—Did this story make any impression on you. A—Yes, it did. It was in big type.

Q—So you immediately associated it with the trial?

A—Yes.

New Clues Hinted In Baby Killings

MASSILLON, O., June 10 (AP)

—A press conference called for today by the City Hospital superintendent raised the possibility of fresh light being thrown on the mysterious deaths of two baby girls in the institution Friday.

Another voluntary lie detector test was to be given to Harry E. Morton, father of one of the infants found dying of fractured skulls in their cribs. The first test was ruled inconclusive.

Stark County Prosecutor D. Deane McLaughlin said:

"I can see where an accident might occur at the hands of a child patient or nurse when one baby is involved, but not when two are found dying and a search has been made for a third."

Swedish Ship Afire At Sea, All Saved

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—

The master of the 1954-ton Swedish ship Lena Brodin early today notified its New York agents that the afterhold and deck of the ship were in flames off the coast of Bermuda and he was forced to abandon ship.

The 18-year-old heiress' chief counsel, Otto Jacobs, said he did not think the final jury would be obtained until some time next week.

At one stage yesterday, Prosecutor Eugene D. Williams told the court he was satisfied with the jury in the box. It consisted of eight men and four women.

Defense lawyers said they were far from satisfied with the make-up of the jury; that there were far too many men on it.

Gollum, 21-year-old collegian who aspires to be a brain surgeon, had frequent long conversations with his fiancée as they sat together in the courtroom.

There were several recesses and delays after the swearing in of the fourth panel of talesmen, which produced only 44 from 125 prospective jurors summoned.

Jacobs hinted at attempts to influence the jury as he elicited from Charles W. Neuman, juror No. 1, an admission that he had received a postcard from an unidentified person with reference to the case.

Trial Judge Kenneth E. Morrison privately admonished lawyers against divulging the text of the card, which Neuman had made known to the judge.

The court has indicated that the jury would not be locked up during the trial, expected to last six to eight weeks, unless there was a verdict.

Orville Pendleton waived expiring. Jacobs, after disclosing the postcard incident, obtained the court's permission to ask the entire jury if they had received any communications, written or telephoned, about the case, since being seated. All others said they had not been approached in any way.

Bus Drivers' Row Near Settlement

Early settlement of the dispute between 2500 union bus drivers and mechanics and the management of the Eastern Mass. Street Railway Co., was predicted today on the basis of an agreement to be considered by the trustees of the system.

Notified that the conferees were close to an adjustment of the difference involved, Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, cancelled a scheduled conference with the principals planned for this morning.

With the contract between the 11 local unions of the Street, Electrical and Motor Coach Employees of America, A.F.M., and the management nearing expiration, the company recently offered a raise of six cents an hour to the bus operators and maintenance men, on the basis of a 48-hour week.

The men, through their union representatives, held out for a 40-hour week at the same salary, which would have amounted to a raise of 15 cents an hour, but with a take home pay loss of $4.12.

Union leaders, in advance of today's conference, declined to discuss reports that the settlement basis was for a 44-hour week.

Trio En Route to Lynn To Face Murder Quiz

Patriots Enthuse At Response of Hub School Body

Enthused over the response of Boston's youth to their appeal for a revival of Americanism in the national school system, and inspired by their visit to local historic shrines of liberty, the three Washington high school students who walked out of their classroom in protest against a Communist lecture left today for Albany, N. Y.

Their three-day visit to Boston climaxed a tour of principal eastern cities as part of a nationwide crusade against Communism, sponsored by the Hearst newspapers.

The last day of the visit had been marred by the illness of Richard Smith, which confined him to his hotel for the day.

His co-ed companions, Ruthe Pigott and Virginia Marakle, carried the program to completion and brought 1500 wildly cheering students at Public Latin School to their feet as they urged them to keep America the way it is.

Observing the outburst of enthusiasm in the school auditorium, as flags were waved and students cheered, were Headmaster Dr. Joseph L. Powers, Chairman Daniel McDevitt of the Boston School Committee, and Dr. Dennis G. Haley, assistant superintendent of the Boston schools.

All lauded the Hearst newspapers for making the tour of the young patriots possible.

"We of the school system," McDevitt said when introducing Virginia, "are indebted to the Hearst papers and the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser for bringing to us these guests on the platform."

Then he formally presented Miss Marakle, who said after the enthusiastic applause had stilled:

"What happened at our Western High school in Washington was most important. It ought never to be laughed at. The speaker was an outwardly charming, lovely lady who spoke with a Russian accent. For the first 10 minutes of her speech she talked of the school system of Russia and then went into political issues."

Next Chairman McDevitt introduced Ruthe Rigott, who likewise received a wild welcome from the boys assembled in the hall. Ruthe made the students roar immediately by opening with: "I'm not going to talk long because I know how anxious you boys are to get back to your classes."

Murder Suspects Return to Lynn

A Lynn man, a 15-year-old boy and the latter's mother today were en route from Ithaca, N. Y., to Lynn to face charges in the slaying of Harry Rosen, 63, bludgeoned to death in his factory in East Lynn.

Herbert Douglas, 26, ex-merchant marine sailor, and Roy Fuller Shurger, Jr., 15, were in custody of Insps. John P. Hines and Francis H. Brodine of the Lynn police. In a second automobile was Mrs. Laura Shurger, 35, in custody of Policewoman Anna McDermott.

Douglas and young Shurger allegedly confessed to the murder after arraignment at Ithaca. Mrs. Shurger was held as an accessory after the fact.

In a telephone call from Ithaca, Chief Insp. Charles T. Duggan of Lynn police reported Douglas and the boy had told him Rosen was slain with repeated blows of a hammer in the hand of Douglas when he resisted their attempt to rob him. They got $100.

Duggan said they told him they had disposed of the hammer and announced he will launch a search for it upon his return to Lynn today.

HANNIBAL, Mo., June 10 (AP)—Floodwaters pouring into the Mississippi river, which already have made more than 20,000 homeless and have inundated nearly 50,000 acres of farm land, in eastern Missouri and west-central Illinois, appeared today to have reached a high point.

lowed testimony by Dpnn, with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

Defense Atty. Claude B. Cross withdrew objections to the statement provided it was not admitted as evidence of an overt act of treason.

Agent Dunn said he warned Chandler he was under no obligation to make a statement and that it might be used against him. Chandler made the statement at Washington, Dec. 14, 1946, after being brought to this country by the Army.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Oscar R. Ewing, chief prosecutor at the Chandler trial, then sought to have admitted a number of documents turned over by Chandler to the commander of the Seventh Army at Augsburg, Germany.

The defense objected on the ground Chandler was under illegal detention at that time. Judge Ford deferred decision until he has time to study a decision made yesterday by the U. S. Supreme Court in the case of Maj. Walter V. Radovich.

Maj. Radovich was convicted of bribery but the Circuit Court of Appeals granted him a new trial.

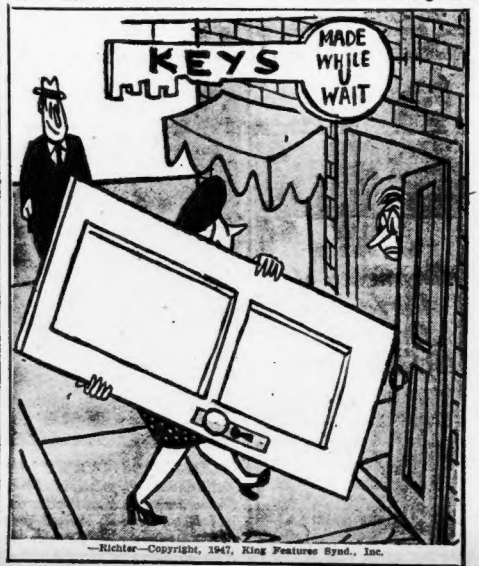

The Supreme Court reversed the Circuit Court. Judge Ford said he did not know at this time whether the decision had any application to the Chandler case but he wanted to find out.

Aldo Cesarino, former army captain of Boston, testified that only two years ago Chandler had stated he felt that Russia was a greater menace to the world than Germany.

Cesarino, who was stationed in Pforzenreid, Germany, testified he went to Chandler's residence in Germany in May, 1945.

The witness quoted Chandler as asserting he had offered his services gratis in 1941 to speak against war, and that when asked what he broadcast, Chandler had replied he felt Nazism was good for Europe and that he did not agree with Cordell Hull's ultimatum to Japan.

Mrs. Cote's Counsel Protests As State Holds Up Report

Defense strategy in the trial of Mrs. Bertha Cote for the bludgeoning of her husband, Rene, at their Brockton home last December, hung in the balance today as her counsel, Eben G. Townes, found himself sparing at a deadline hour for vitally needed information in the medical examiner's autopsy report, material still withheld by the State.

Townes said he wanted details of the report with regard to Cote's internal injuries. Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Wheatley had said he would waive a ruling on the matter by Judge Felix Forte and hand over the autopsy details to the defense today.

At noon today, however, Townes had not received it, He declared:

"The trial goes on Monday. I must have the medical examiner's report on those internal injuries in order to retain medical witnesses with experience appropriate to the facts. Time is an important element."

Judge Forte in a lobby session at Middlesex superior court, where he is sitting before taking over the trial in Plymouth next week, granted a motion by Townes and Edward Stevens of Brockton, associate counsel, to engage medical services at the state's expense.

"But unless I have the medical examiner's findings with regard to internal injuries in ample time to select qualified medical experts," Townes observed today, "the defense will be unfairly handicapped."

Meanwhile, it was disclosed the

$634 'Slipped' To Haughey, Witness Says

Louis Gregorio, 48, foreman of the Newton street department, testified in Middlesex Superior Court today he slipped $350 into the pocket of John D. Haughey, former Newton street commissioner, in payment for the loan of three pieces of city equipment.

Haughey is charged with two counts of larceny during his administration, Archie Whitman, city comptroller, has already testified official records do not show a payment to the city for the loan of a grader, steamroller and spreader.

Gregorio, under questioning by Asst. Dist. Atty. Ephraim Martin, said he used the equipment on a private contract job in Waltham in 1944. The payment of $350 to Haughey, he said, was followed by a request from the then street commissioner for more money. "I paid him an additional $284.08," said Gregorio, "in cash at his own request. I never got a receipt for either payment."

Card. Gerlier Revisits Hub After 37 Yrs.

Pierre Cardinal Gerlier of Lyon, France, who visited Boston 37 years ago when he was an attorney and head of the French Youth Organization, arrived here today on what he termed a "sentimental trip," and was greeted at the South Station by Archbishop Cushing, who was accompanied by Bishop-designate Wright.

The French cardinal later will go to Ottawa, where he will attend the Marian Congress, an assembly of Catholic churches, including cardinals and archbishops from this continent and Europe.

At the station, speaking in his native tongue for translation by Bishop-designate Wright, Cardinal Gerlier jovially recollected his visit here nearly three decades ago.

"I have many friends in New England," he said, "and whom were in France during the war. The last time I was here I went to Woonsocket and spoke there. This is a sentimental visit for me and I am very happy to be here."

Accompanying the cardinal was Canon Carriere of Ottawa, advisor to the bishop of that diocese. They were taken to Archbishop Cushing's residence, where the cardinal said mass.

He was to attend the graduation exercises of Mt. St. Joseph's Academy on the grounds of the archbishop's residence, then have luncheon at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, where he was to address the seminarians.

This afternoon, Cardinal Gerlier goes to Woonsocket. Tonight he will arrive in Worcester to receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws, from Assumption College.

Final Effort Launched To Avert Auto Body Tieup

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—Negotiators made a final effort today to avert off a strike at eight plants of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. which might shut down roughly one-sixth of the entire automobile industry.

The CIO United Auto Workers have threatened to call 20,000 Briggs workers off their jobs tomorrow unless their contract demands are met by then. Demands include retroactivity of a proposed 15-cent hourly wage increase equivalent to May 28.

British Police Kidnaped In Palestine Rescued

JERUSALEM, June 10 (AP)—The government announced that two British police officers kidnaped yesterday by Extremists were found near Kiriath Shaul this morning by a military patrol. It did not say whether the two men had been harmed.

Kiriath Shaul is near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv. Military patrols had been scouring the area since the two were seized at a crowded swimming pool at Ramat Gan.

Bigamy Suspect Faces N. H. Court

A 21-year-old mail truck driver, a former merchant mariner, today faced bigamy charges at Nashua, N. H., after being traced to his first wife in Old Lyme, Ct., by his alleged wartime bride, a young girl from Watertown.

Orville Pendleton waived extradition at Old Lyme and set off with New Hampshire officers after facing Delia Marini, 21, of Watertown, whom he allegedly married at Nashua in November, 1946, and left after spending an 11-day honeymoon at Winter Park, Fla.

Stunned and unable to make any comment was Mrs. Pendleton No. 1, the former Gloria Bojarsquez of Old Lyme, mother of a 3-year-old son. She and Pendleton wed in 1943.

Murder Jury Weighs Boy's Fate

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 10 (INS)—The jury considering the case against Stuart Buckner Allen, 16, adopted minister's son charged with murder, resumed deliberations today after an overnight recess.

The youth signed a confession April 7 admitting using a hammer to shatter the skull of the sexton, John A. Frank, 58, and then drilling the neck and abdomen with an electric drill.

The eight-day trial session has been marked by verbal fireworks between Prosecuting Attorney O. R. Newcomer and the defense counsel, R. A. Brown, Jr. Both attorneys were reprimanded by the court for "ungentlemanly actions."

Miners' Labor Bill Protest Strike Gains

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 10 (AP)—Work stoppages among soft coal miners protesting labor legislation before Congress spread to 20 mines employing 11,204 men today as AFL-United Mine Workers officials pondered their strategy.

Two mines voted to resume work after being idle over the weekend. Among the closed mines was the world's largest, the famed Robena mine of the Frick Coal and Coke Co., which employs 1800 miners and has a normal daily production of 10,000 tons.

TOUGH KYO SECTION SEARCHED FOR SLAYER OF U. S. WOMAN

TOKYO, June 10 (AP)—U. S. Army agents searched Tokyo's toughest Naka ward today for clues in the fiery death of Miss Brocha Lyon, first American woman killed in Japan since the war.

Japanese pie found her body early Monday beside a Nakano road with two bullet holes through her head. They didn't know how she got there. The spot is six miles from downtown Tokyo where, less than three hours earlier, she had emerged from a theater to start for her hotel only two blocks away.

The Army today confirmed identification of the War Dept. civilian employee, who was born in Russia, and listed her home city as New York. Investigating agents said only that they were continuing their search for her "possible murderer or murderers."

Results of an autopsy have not been announced.

New England VA Drops 50 Top Men

Fifty executive jobs in the Veterans' Administration throughout New England were ordered abolished today in connection with a nationwide personnel reduction, to be effected by July 31. More than 6100 posts will be involved.

The order was in accordance with President Truman's 1946 budget message to Congress recommending personnel cuts.

According to the Veterans' Administration here, 82,370 Massachusetts veterans of World Wars I and II are receiving compensation and disability awards. During May, 2080 new claims were filed, 2013 by World War II men. In addition, 412 Bay State veterans have been certified for free automobiles.

Chaplin's New Film Banned in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 10 (AP).—The Memphis board of censors slapped an outright ban on the new Charlie Chaplin movie, "Monsieur Verdoux," barring it from any showings in the city.

"We don't have to give our reasons," said Lloyd T. Binford, chairman of the three-member board which has banned "Duel in the Sun," "The Outlaw," and other movies. Binford added, however, that the Chaplin film, distributed by United Artists, is "a comedy that makes murder a joke."

FORMER MAYOR DIES

MERIDEN, Ct., June 10 (AP).—Stephen Lincoln Smith, two-term mayor of Meriden in the thirties and president of the U. S. Smith Express Co., founded by his grandfather in 1850, died at his home here today after a long illness.

SEVENTH BRIDE

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 10 (AP).—Cameraman George Barnes, probably Hollywood's leading contender for the most-married title, has taken his seventh wife.

Barnes, 54, whose fourth spouse was actress Joan Blondell, has married Margaret Atkinson, 39, of Los Angeles, it was disclosed today. It was the bride's second marriage.

Barnes was divorced from Miss Blondell in 1935.

BIG BEGINNING

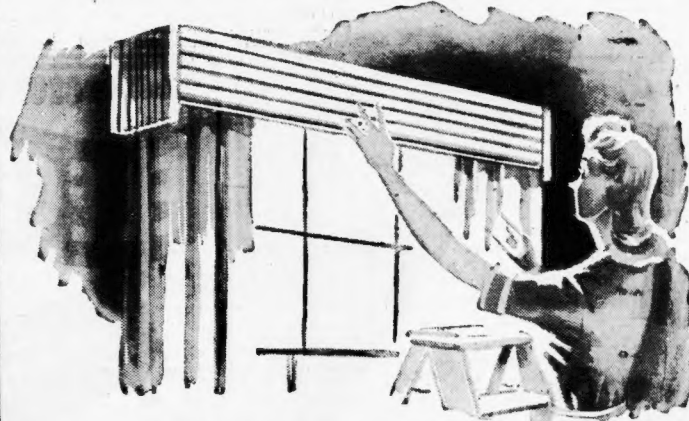

LOS ANGELES, June 10 (AP)

—Patrick E. McCabe's first airplane flight is a super-duper—it'll take him part way around the world.

The boy, 8, left, alone, on an American Airlines plane yesterday for Stuttgart, Germany, to visit his father, E. A. McCabe, a field director there for the American Red Cross.

Patrick, who lives with his mother, Mrs. V. W. Avis, in Needles, Cal., kissed her goodbye at takeoff time, hesitated a minute, then scrambled up the ramp to get himself a good seat, where he could see everything.

VFW Official Scores Solons On Peacetime Training Delay

By DAN MARKEL

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 10—Veterans all over the nation are fed up with the slow motion tactics of congressional leaders and their lack of interest in universal military training, Ray Brannaman, senior national vice commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said here today.

"They want action, and they want it now before Congress goes home for its summer vacation," Brannaman exclaimed. "Our combat veterans are realists who know the life and destiny of our country are at stake."

The VFW official, who is slated to be the overseas organization's next national commander-in-chief, has been on a tour attending departmental encampments.

"Everywhere I go veterans are asking: 'Why is Congress so dilatory on UMT? Why are they gambling with national security?'"

Brannaman said too few congressmen follow world history.

"Russia's single-track program is to rule the world," he said.

"Russia is determined to carry out that program now, and in some parts of the world she is making rapid and ruthless progress."

"The only nation on earth that today stands in the way of Russia accomplishing her program is the U. S."

"We will stand in her way to world conquest if we remain strong. We will fail if we are weak."

"To remain strong we must have universal military training."

The VFW leader said pouring hundreds of millions of dollars into distant lands menaced by Communism will not stop Russia.

"The realistic thing to do would be to spend some of those millions here at home on our own preparedness, on military muscle and universal training," he commented.

Brannaman urged churches in America to advocate universal military training as forcefully as the veterans organizations.

FLIERS WIN PAY BOOST

CHICAGO, June 10 (INS)—A spokesman for the Air Line Pilots Association said that contracts on the basis of higher pay for pilots who fly four-motor ships are being signed by all major air lines.

12 City Heads Ask Navy Dept. Aid In Honoring John Paul Jones

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 10—Mayors and civic leaders throughout the nation have sent requests to the Navy Dept. for use of naval personnel and naval equipment in their communities to help celebrate on July 6 the bi-centennial of John Paul Jones, naval hero of the Revolutionary War.

Parades, civic and fraternal demonstrations, open air rallies in parks and before statues of John Paul Jones, window displays of ship models of that period, exhibition of relics in libraries and museums will feature the observance.

The nationwide celebrations in memory of the nation's first naval hero are being sponsored by the Navy Dept. and the Hearst newspapers.

The bi-centennial celebration idea to pay homage to the founder of American naval traditions was first voiced in the Hearst newspapers by Harry H. Schlicht, inspirational writer.

In a feature article he suggested that the nation honor its greatest naval hero, declaring:

"As long as courage and heroic deeds are honored there will remain green in the hearts of brave men the talismanic name of John Paul Jones."

'Abduction' Fails To Upset Iturbi

PARIS, June 10 (INS)—Concert Pianist Jose Iturbi took his son-in-law's "abduction" of his two young daughters with smiling good humor today.

Iturbi said he had been informed by friends how Stephan Hero, 31-year-old violinist, flew to New York with the girls and said he had, in effect, abducted them from the pianist's Beverly Hills, Cal., home.

The pianist was interviewed at the George Fifth Hotel while dressing for a broadcast to the French people.

He seemed unalarmed by Hero's "coup" in making off with Maria Teresa, 10, and Maria Antonia, 9. Hero, divorced husband of the maestro's daughter, Maria Iturbi Hero, 28, who ended her life a year ago, said friends and employes of Iturbi had watched him constantly "but I finally found a way to get the children."

There's the spring in the clock... the spring in the rock. Definitely spring's a confusing word. Because it has several meanings, it can fool you.

But not Ballantine! There's a word that never fooled anybody. Ballantine always means PURITY, BODY, FLAVOR... the superlative qualities symbolized by Peter Ballantine's famous 3-ring trade mark. Look for the 3 rings... call for Ballantine.

$6,000,000 Tax Snags El Sale

With Boston Elevated stock selling on the market at $64, the legislature today was still in a quandary over what to do about $6,000,000 in federal taxes if the Republican-sponsored bill to buy the El at $84 a share goes through in its present form.

Already, the Senate has turned down a move by Sen. Chester A. Dolan to reduce the public ownership purchase price to $64 a share. At the same time, Robert H. gains tax.

Holt, speaking for the Elevated directors, told a legislative committee the public ownership bill should be amended so as to permit purchase of the stock up to a specific date, after which the rest of the property would be taken by eminent domain.

This, he said, would accomplish liquidation of the road without a profit and at the same time obviate the levying by the federal government of a $6,000,000 capital

Unions in Final Labor Bill Blast

WASHINGTON, June 10 (INS) — Organized labor today directed a rising tide of pressure on the White House to veto the Taft-Hartley labor bill. CIO President Philip Murray will send a personal letter to President Truman urging him to veto the labor measure, and AFL chief, William Green, probably will do likewise. The Federation's $1,500,000 drive against the legislation reaches its climax with two more newspaper ads, a radio variety show and radio addresses by three key officials—Daniel W. Tracy, Matthew Woll and George Meany. Murray also will speak against the bill tonight at New York's Madison Sq. Garden.

For Whatever Ails Suckers, There's Sure 'Cure'—For Cash

ATLANTIC CITY, June 10 (AP)—The gullibility of John Citizen is the title of an American Medical Ass'n exhibit here showing what strange things we like to buy for our

For $125 there was a radium pencil. The U. S. Bureau of Standards reported no radium in it at all. But it was heralded as a much better cure for nerve things, including arthritis, goiter, appendicitis, eye troubles and high blood pressure.

For $1000 there was a radio grand rejuvenator. Just plug it into a radio.

There was an ozone generator that killed germs but investigators declared that enough ozone to kill germs also endangers human life.

A vibrator picked up sound waves from the family radio and that increased, so it said, secretions, flow of blood and either stimulated or soothed, as desired.

There were magnetic horse collars—for men, but big enough for horses—that gave magnetic emanations until quite recently the Federal Trade Commission said, "cease and desist."

There was a vibrator for deafness that cost a few pennies to make and sold for $15. And a necklace for goiter for $7.50.

Flashlight batteries made a nice "mechanical heart" which was merely a buzzer. But when you put that particular buzzer on your body things were guaranteed to happen to earaches, deafness, sore eyes, broken noses, and heart troubles.

There were two metal plates, one copper, one zinc, to put in the soles of shoes, and then goodbye diabetes, paralysis, asthma, eczema and both high and low blood pressure.

A dimple-maker, too, consisting of two little knobs to be pressed into the middle of each cheek. But the medicos said such continued pressure at one spot is not safe.

2 New Drugs Prevent Blood Clotting

ATLANTIC CITY, June 10 (AP)—Lives and limbs are being saved and many more "can be saved" with the aid of two relatively new anti-blood clotting drugs employed against serious blood-vessel obstructions, a Mayo clinic doctor says.

Dr. Edger V. Allen told the American Medical Ass'n's centennial convention yesterday the drugs were Heparin and dicumarol, and that they were used to combat thrombosis and embolism—conditions where in clots partly or almost completely obstruct a blood vessel. Death can result.

THERE is danger ahead . . . danger to you and to all other Americans who work for a living. You must stop and take notice or get hurt. Congress has now passed and sent to the President the most dangerous bill of our times. It is called the Taft-Hartley Bill.

There have been other bills pressured through the Congress and laid on the desk of our Chief Executive—but never one with more one-sided intent—never before one designed to weigh down the scales of justice on the side of privilege and power—never before a bill written to punish millions of working people simply because they are union working people.

The Slave Labor bill is a travesty and a mockery of our American heritage. It is a threat to a free people.

Americans Attend British Royal Fete

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—More than 100 Americans were up for presentation to the king and queen today at the second royal garden party of the year.

The closely cropped lawn behind Buckingham Palace was bathed in sunshine and rimmed with awnings for the event. Several thousand persons were invited. Most of the Americans were members of the U. S. embassy staff, their wives and children.

Ambassador and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas and their daughter, Sharm, headed the list of Americans. R. Adm. and Mrs. Rescoe E. Schuirmann and Miss Hardinia Taylor Schuirmann accompanied the embassy group as Mrs. Douglas' guests.

Author C. E. Mulford Saved in Maine Fire

FRYEBURG, Me., June 10 (AP)—Clarence E. Mulford, author of the "Hop-a-Long Cassidy" and other Western stories, was rescued today by the driver of a passing creamery truck as fire badly damaged his home here. Loss was estimated at $25,000.

The 61-year-old writer was carried down a ladder after John Sisk, the truck driver, found him nearly unconscious in his bedroom of the attractive two and one-half story frame dwelling.

Three thrilling new Studebakers!

First by far in postwar style!

IT'S a thrill to most people just to look at a 1947 Studebaker. Here's the first complete change in car styling in years. It's a new kind of car, too, in handling ease and riding comfort. That's because its engineering is thoroughly postwar. But there's more to this dream car than style and performance. Everything about a 1947 Studebaker is wonderful—"black light" dash dials—wide-vision windows—brakes that automatically adjust themselves!

Extra-long-wheelbase Studebaker
①—the 1947 Land Cruiser! First all-new car in the top-quality field. Styled to perfection. Priced with moderation.

New 1947 Studebaker Champion
②—famed for exceptional operating economy—the 2-door sedan shown is one of Studebaker's lowest priced postwar cars.

Powerful new Commander—a post-war beauty! This is one of several smart new body styles—available also in the Studebaker Champion line.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

LITTLE BY LITTLE, the United States is being pushed off the continent of Europe. When we went into this war, we were told that it was being fought to liberate the peoples of Europe and Asia from the Fascists. We defeated and crushed the Fascists and have ourselves become the target of a warlike nation which constantly is unendingly engaged in a propaganda against the United States. In fact, we are in the midst of an undeclared war, which even has military aspects.

The war against the United States of America is being fought in both Europe and Asia. Its Asiatic battlefields are in China, Korea, Iran and Turkey for the present. Its European battlefields are slowly being pushed westward from the Bug river to the Rhine. Already the enemy holds the Danube, the Hungarian coup denies the impeding Austria, the last foothold of the free nations in the Danubian area.

Once the Russian has consolidated his gains in this part of Europe he will move to Italy, and if the United States chooses to fight for Italy the same will happen in Italy as happened in Hungary. The Senate has ratified the Italian treaty, which means that the Russian cause has further been served, even after the Hungarian coup.

HUNGARY is Russia's answer to the Greco-Turkish aid passed by Congress. It is Stalin's reply to the Truman doctrine. But it means much more than that: It means that all the conversations at the United Nations and at the Council of Foreign Ministers, that all the treaties proposed and signed are unrealistic.

The Russian program of world revolution and world conquest moves slowly and unabated in the direction of isolating the United States so that this country is left alone without allies or associates. If the United States has to fight a war when the Russian program is completed we shall have to fight the entire world—a world directed by the Kremlin.

Stalin said in his book, "Leninism": "The victory of Socialism in one country is not an end in itself; it must be looked upon as a support, as a means for hastening the proletarian victory in every other land. For the victory of the revolution in one country (in Russia, for the nonce) is not only the result of the unequal development and the progressive decay of imperialism; it is likewise the beginning and the continuation of the world revolution."

AS FANTASTIC as it may seem to Americans, this is the program Russia is carrying to fruition. However, it is no longer implemented by conspiratorial groups, by cloak and dagger spies, by long-haired radicals; Russia employs armies, her own, and the Red armies of Communist countries. The Communist army in China has since 1925 been a Russian-directed army.

When the United Nations commission went to inspect Greek guerrilla operations they encountered difficulties because these so-called guerrillas were a Red army directed by Russians. The United States Army was refused permission to inspect military installations in Hungary by Gen. V. P.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 million of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they are tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, hot pains, loss of sex and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 100 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous wastes from your blood. Use Doan's Pills.

ANOTHER RED SATELLITE

THE REDUCTION of Hungary to the humiliating status of "another Soviet satellite," as Senator Vandenberg of Michigan warningly asserts, confirms the fact that the Allied powers are waiting in vain for Russian co-operation in the re-establishment of European peace according to democratic concepts of justice.

The Allies, and particularly the United States, cannot wait "too much longer" for Russian co-operation, he has become convinced—and without it the negotiation of a separate peace, excluding Russia, is justified and necessary and in fact the only alternative.

This is the second time within a week that the imminent prospect of a separate peace has been suggested at the highest level of American authority.

Former President Herbert Hoover previously reached the same conclusion that Senator Vandenberg now supports.

The humiliation and degradation of Hungary serve to clarify and crystallize the situation.

It is an event which, as Senator Vandenberg angrily told his Senate colleagues, "STIRS A FURTHER SENSE OF OUTRAGE."

THE COMMUNIST COUP in Hungary, the Senator bluntly declared, is actually a "treacherous conquest."

IT was accomplished by means of "rigged elections."

It was perpetrated by "the same minority elements which were repudiated overwhelmingly at the polls."

Nowhere in the world, the Michigan Senator bitterly observed, have Communists carried out the RED FASCIST formula of aggression and subjugation with "a more cynical demonstration of their idea of democracy."

It is not just the patience of the civilized Western nations which is wearing thin in the effort to make a just and workable peace with the co-operation and consent of Russia.

BUT THE LAST REMAINING SEMBLANCE OF AN OPPORTUNITY TO DO SO IS DWINDLING AWAY.

One by one, Soviet Russia is resorting to the seizure of power in the helpless nations on her borders, and incorporating them into her RED FASCIST EMPIRE without their consent and against their will.

Last week there were ten satellites of Russia so created, as Mr. Hoover reported.

Now there are ELEVEN.

And nearly all of the rest of Europe is "a mixture of Socialism and government-directed economy" and thus ripe and ready for Russian absorption.

SENATOR VANDENBERG, who has often collaborated with the Truman Administration which has gone to frequent and dangerous extremes in appeasement of Soviet Russia, apparently comes with some reluctance toward acceptance of the probable necessity of peace negotiations without Russia. BUT HE FINDS HIMSELF UNABLE TO RESIST THE WEIGHT OF EVIDENCE.

"We cannot wait too much longer for Soviet co-operation and consent in stabilizing Western and Central Europe," he acknowledges, even though he still feels peace negotiations including Russia is "infinitely preferable."

"The rest of us are entitled to just as much voluntary freedom of action on our side of the 'iron curtain' as the Soviets and their satellites have assumed, often coercively, on theirs," he insists.

"We cannot wait indefinitely to stabilize relationships with those who substantially think alike—and this includes the control of atomic energy."

"Patience is still a virtue, but not forever, particularly when time runs against us. . . ."

"Some day we shall get these treaties—even if, unhappily, we are forced to organize peace in our own zones alone."

*How many kisses do I ask?
 How you set me to my task.
 First, sweetheart, could you tell
 How many waves are in the sea?
 How many stars are in the sky?
 How many lovers do you make sigh?
 How many sands are on the shore?
 I shall count just one kiss more.*
 —WILLIAM STIRLING-MAXWELL.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST gamblers are now to be found in England. In a recent divorce case in London a woman testified her husband wagered the equivalent of twenty thousand dollars a week in the football pools. She said that he had won as much as one hundred and sixty-nine thousand dollars in less than a month! She said she was prepared to prove her statements. Imagine winning one hundred and sixty-nine thousand dollars in a month and no income tax to pay on it!

PASSING BY: Jean Arthur. Extremely clever actress. Has no equal in Hollywood in handling a light comedy scene. She is a native of New York City. Was once one of the belles of Washington Heights. Real name is Gladys Greene. She has green gray eyes. Ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent of women having green gray eyes are unusually intelligent and have a lively sense of humor. So the research of our Horses & Women experts indicates.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—How should a secretary handle a boss born under the sign of Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)? A—The Capricorn boss is strong for a neat, orderly, systematic manner of handling his affairs. It was a Capricorn executive who originated the idea of keeping a desk clean of all papers, books, etc. This type usually has a passion for punctuation and an error in the same affects his blood pressure. Your Capricorn is a moody fellow but don't try to cheer him up when he is blue; he enjoys being that way. However, he admires witty women. So it is right to give out with a jest now and then. Or so say the stargazers.

BLONDES PREFERRED: Dr. Felix Kersten, personal physician to some of the Nazi big shots during the heyday of the Hitler regime, reports Heinrich Himmler on one occasion, in a sudden burst of confidence, revealed some of the things the Nazis planned for the "Greater Germany" of the future. Himmler said the Nazis believed blue-eyed blondes were the world's most superior women. That in "Greater Germany" said blondes would have special privileges. Also that S.S. men would be permitted to marry only blue-eyed blondes. And furthermore bigamy would be legal for all S.S. men in order that each one might marry two blue-eyed blondes.

ANTIQUES: Fifty per cent of the schools of New York City are antiquated. Many are not fireproof. Some day it will dawn on the majority of New Yorkers that the bargain price they get in a 5-cent subway ride has a boomerang angle. By that I mean, the loss the city suffers by adhering to this cheap subway money for the municipal coffers that might be used to build modern schools.

CLEVER WIFE: Of that heavyweight ringman Joe Baksi it has been said: "Baksi manages his manager and Baksi's wife manages Baksi." This is probably true. But Mrs. Baksi certainly has done all right so far. Just as Rose Fitzsimmons did for the great "Rube" Bob Fitzsimmons.

GIRL GRADUATES: Have you attended any graduation exercises this year? I have been to several. The sweet girl graduates are as sweet as ever. Possibly even a little sweeter. But they seem to be more nervous than was the case in the year. Many lack poise. This is surprising in an era in which the teen-agers pride themselves on their "sophistication." It is my belief the young people of the 1920's were much wilder and more nearly approached the sophisticated state of mind than those of today. However, don't get me wrong. I think a sweet girl graduate who is a little nervous and is touched with at least a small degree of innocence is much more attractive than an excessively sophisticated one. I am speaking of high school graduates.

KEEPING YOUNG: Two good places for a person to keep young as time goes by are a college town and around a racetrack. At the racetrack the place to be, of course, is with the horses. That is to own or train some thoroughbreds. At one time I planned to spend my declining years in a college town. But now I have decided to own some horses. So if 30 or 40 years from now you see a reference to a horse owner called "Father Ed" Durling, that will be me.

FAIR ENOUGH

AS I WAS out walking one evening in May I walked down to the exotic Lido-Rendezvous cafe

This is one of our most exclusive after-dark resorts

Patronized by the flower of our womanhood and their male escorts

The interior is modishly attractive with a new, hand-painted decor

Which (so 'tis rumored) cost at least $500 or more.

Westbrook Pegler

It is indeed a most exotic caravanserai

And Marcus Devaney the prop. is a 100 per cent right guy

He has always got his hand in his pocket for any worthy cause

And charges it cheerfully up to profit and loss. THIS HERE was a beautiful night that I am speaking about

And all love's young dream of glamorous romance was turned out

So as I was walking past the glamorous Lido-Rendezvous

I thought perchance I might quaff a cup or two.

MAYHAP YOU WILL be thinking "well, usen't you to be a married man?"

And, my worthy opponent, you are quite correct, I am.

Yes, on August the 28th will be our ninth anniversary

And still just as wed as two love-birds possibly could be.

But it just so happens, on this glamor-scented night in May

My life's companion was over in East Orange, N. J.

Because her sister Celia, that is the youngest one

She was having her first-born babe which turned out to be a six-pound son.

WELL, VERONICA, the oldest sister, they have moved somewheres out West.

So, one thing and another, my helpmeet thought the better be with Celia in her test.

So that is how it come, and I am glad you asked, This night I am alone as am walking past

Walking past the swank Lido-Rendezvous Cafe Where everything is comme il faut, bon chance and s'il vous plait.

So I felt kind of lonesome and a little festive, too.

So I said to Maurice, the garcon, "Carney," I said, "Maurice Carney, I leave it up to you."

I said: "My wife's little sister, Celia, has had a six-pound boy and all our cups at our house are running o'er with joy."

Well, Carney, he is perhaps careless or it was, mayhap, I.

But anyway he lets out a yell: "Everybody name it. Healy is going to buy!"

Well, then he shot off his loud lab gab how I was the festive father

And I couldn't explain to all those people and go through all that bother.

So I said: "Sure, Carney, nothing is too good for Healy's pals.

So the what one and all are having, respectively, both gents and gals."

THEN THEY SLAPPED me on the back and kidded me, the way they do.

And strangers and married women and young engaged couples, too.

And I stood a couple of grunts and then reluctantly to them asserted

That I must get along home or the new Mama's feelings might be hurt

But by this time they were in a fine spirit of friendship and fun

And blocked the door so I couldn't leave till I had another one.

And I kept trying to go home but everybody wanted a turn to buy

And drink to the Mama and the baby and mud in the Papa's eye

And naturally I was feeling like a low-down, dirty, chiseling guy

And anyway, next morning I had to be on the job at work

But it wasn't my fault. That stupid Carney. That thick slob.

Why didn't he listen and get it right? That's his job.

AND, FINALLY, well every time I am trying to leave the place

I can't seem to get the floor off my face

I squint my eyes and I draw a bead on the door

But I can't get through with my arms full of the floor.

Well, so somehow, I don't know how but sometime awful late

There comes the phony Papa home to the old Healy estate

And when I woke up, I just laid there clammy and numb

And figured it wasn't lawful to move the body till the coroner come.

So that is just what happened on this glamor-scented night in May

While my cherished life's companion was over in East Orange, N. J.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 10.—While Robert R. Young, owner of Eagle-Lion, was in our fair city, he cabled the Duke and Duchess of Windsor for permission to use the Duke's cattle ranch in Calgary, Alberta Province, Canada. Naturally, Mr. Young wanted it for a motion picture, and that motion picture is "Rainbow Ridge," a Western on which two million dollars will be spent. It will be filmed in color.

It is based on a magazine article by James Craig, and following Mr. Young's plan to bring added talent to Eagle-Lion, Albert S. Rogell will produce and direct. All of the exterior scenes will be filmed at this ranch, which is a breeding center for some of the finest herds of cattle in the world.

The Duke and Duchess, who have been intimate friends of the Youngs for many years, have spent several holidays at the Palm Beach estate of the railroad magnate.

RAY MILLAND better not eat too many fish and chips (his favorite diet), he wrote me from London) because he'll have to stay streamlined for another movie immediately following "So Evil My Love."

When Ray finishes the latter for Hal Wallis in England, he returns to home base to go into "The Sealed Verdict," Lionel Shapiro's story of the inside of the Nazi War Lord trials at Nuremberg.

In spite of the fact that many experts think Nazi stories are deadlier than the proverbial dodo bird at the box office, this one is so good it will run as a four-part serial in Cosmopolitan before its book publication.

CASEY ROBINSON should consult some of the people who knew Jeanne Eagels when she was alive, when he makes "Rain Girl," the story by Edward Doherty, based on the life of this wonderful actress.

It was Jeanne who first played Sadie Thompson in "Rain," and it was a play that brought her fame. What an actress!

While she was in "Rain," Renold Wolfe, one of the first of the Broadway columnists, was madly in love with her. My desk on the old Morning Telegraph was very close to Renold's, and he used to send her flowers, buy her expensive gifts and devote his entire time and attention to her. After they parted he was extremely bitter and up to the time of his death never forgave Jeanne.

WHEN GLORIA SWANSON dropped by my table at a cafe the other night, she looked as glamorous as when her hairdos were the talk of the beauty parlor circles. This night, her hair was brushed straight back from her forehead, with a mesh veil like a cocktail hat, framing her face.

She told me that the following night she was dining with Sam Wood who directed so many of her hits when she was the queen of Paramount. That's all the tip I needed to get on the trail of a story I hope comes true.

There's an excellent role for Gloria in Sam's next, "Purgatory Street"—and he wants her for it.

CHIT CHAT: Maybe I shouldn't tell this one—but I'm going to. It's too good to keep. The studios preview so many movies in Huntington Park that the community is utterly biased to movie stars. Most of them go down there to catch the first "sneak" of their pictures and while the fans like to look at the Hollywood kings and queens, they never mob them.

So imagine the surprise of all and sundry when, following the preview of "Deep Valley," Dane Clark came out of the theater flanked by a policeman on one side and a brawny usher on the other.

Since no one had any intention of getting within manhandling distance of him—the crowd just roared with laughter.

Una Merkel, who was supposed to go to Republic for a movie—saint! Instead she checks in at MGM for a very good role with Van Johnson and June Allyson in "Virtuoso."

"I feel just like I'm home," Una told me over the telephone. "This is the first where I've signed under contract for so long and it's wonderful to be back."

The reason the Republic deal could be called off so easily is because she had not signed a contract and when they sent the script to her she didn't like it. Well, Una's one girl no movie company can be angry with. She's had so much bad luck behind her, everybody is plugging for blue skies ahead.

FOR THE FIRST time in the memory of man, after Hollywood hailed a picture, New York went hook, line and Santa Claus for it—I mean "The Miracle on 34th Street." Without exception it was given a big hand.

Interesting is the advertisement Gimbel's put in the New York newspaper saying: "The Miracle on 34th Street is welcomed by the miracle on 34th street." You see, the story is all about Macy's. Gimbel's arch rival for years. But don't think for a minute that Gimbel's is overlooked. They get plenty of mention in the picture, too.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random:

Gene Kelly went into the hospital yesterday for an operation on his nose. He hasn't been feeling well for some time.

The Arthur Hornblows leave for Europe in September for a two months' trip. Doris Fulton, the Warner starlet, has separated from her husband, Gordon Holt, one of the "Town Criers" with Tommy Dorsey's band. She'll file for divorce.

Hillary Brooke, tall and stunning, is selling her wardrobe to her shorter girl friends.

It half price because fashion dictates longer skirts and she can't lengthen the hems. Jimmy's a Ritz and Morrow (and very easy on the eyes) at the Santa Monica Mayfair. Joseph Cotten has rented a house in Washington sq. and is loving every minute of his stay in New York. Phyllis Calvert arrived from England today and leaves immediately for her Paramount picture. She just missed J. Arthur Rank by a few days. Perhaps that's just as well since they're not too friendly. Lady Stanley, the former Sylvia Fairbanks, sails for England Wednesday on the Queen Elizabeth. This time she'll make plans to get her divorce.

Song writer Jimmy McHugh is up for election to the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce. Hernandez Courtright, owner of the Beverly Hills Hotel, is also running. What am I offered, boys, to vote for you? Charles Wislizenus' debut. Dantine romance is definitely off, and Charlene is going with her family to Europe, sailing Wednesday. Sidney Buckman is all but set to remain at Columbia instead of heading his own independent company. But whether he stays at Columbia or goes on, he'll make Sammy Fuller's book, "The Dark Page," as his next. Ben Blue found three of his great Dane puppies which were stolen, but one of them died. Meanwhile, he's had 11 of the same breed given to him following our story. I still say that anyone who will take three little puppies away from their mother is the meanest person in the world.

Boston After Dark

WASHINGTON (Exclusive)—Making his first visit to the White House and Washington since his operation last fall in a Boston hospital, Robert E. Hannegan, postmaster general and inactive national chairman of the Democratic party, arrived for an important political conference with his chief, President Truman, just before the President embarked by train for Ottawa.

MR. HANNEGAN has been co-sleeping in Miami Beach while his friend and protégé, Gael Sullivan, has been carrying on the chairmanship of the Democratic party. Both party bosses, inactive and active, were reported as together in conference with the President, and another Democratic factotum (and unexpected visitor) was the big Californian contributor Ed Pauley. He was assumed to be another party to this important huddle.

BUT THE PRESIDENT and "the man who elected him," Mr. Hannegan, were closeted alone in what undoubtedly was a discussion of the political effects of the President's impending action on the so-called labor and income tax bills. Other potent advisors of Mr. Truman are known to have been urging a presidential veto of both bills, and an unwary reporter, amenable to hotel lobby and Capitol gossip, would be prone to predict a Truman veto on both acts of legislation. The handful of Washington intimates of the President who knew of the Hannegan visit to the White House know very little else about the visit, and nothing at all about the postmaster general's sentiments on the crucial tax and labor bills.

IT WAS UNDERSTOOD, however, that the Hannegan visit to muggy Washington was to be as brief as possible, and that he would return to Florida as quickly as his business was transacted. That he might venture as far as Boston for a checkup by Dr. Reginald Smithwick, surgeon-in-chief of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital and the man who performed on him a major operation for the relief of hypertension, was regarded as possible. Mr. Hannegan plans a trip to Europe with his family sometime this summer, and it is unlikely that he would embark on an arduous journey of that sort without the sanction of Dr. Smithwick. Lending some weight to the prospect of a Hannegan trip to Boston is an authoritative report received by this column last week that a Washington VIP (for "very important person" rather than "very important person") expected at the Massachusetts Memorial.

THE "CURLEY CASE" remains a very choice topic of conversation in Washington because of the "play" given the story by the District's journals. "If it may ever cheer the mayor even slightly, this correspondent is happy to pass along a quotation from a member of the Supreme Court who, necessarily, must remain anonymous. . . . The case against Mr. Curley seemed to me to be a flimsy one," said the honored justice, and his remark was made in the presence of three Bostonians.

CONG. JACK KENNEDY gets up with the birds. He materialized at the Union Station as the Federal Express was arriving at 8:15 a. m. . . . The young Congressman greeted two young male friends who were passengers, and took the wheel of his Cadillac to drive his visitors to the Kennedy apartment. . . . Cong. and Mrs. John W. McCormack, observing their 27th wedding anniversary today. . . . They attended church together in a continuation of a practice which has been uninterrupted over the years. . . . Tom White, the Newton Republican leader, was in the capital for a huddle with Sens. Lodge and Saltonstall. . . . Collector of Customs William "Bill" Burke and Atty. Paul Smith were other Washington visitors.

NEW YORK, June 10—Radio City was jammed with curious citizens and avid autograph seekers. They were watching Gregory Peck shooting scenes for "Gentleman's Agreement"—the same Gregory Peck who caused very few heads to turn when he worked as the same Radio City. . . . Times Square traffic was tied up when a "human fly" jumped from floor to floor, via window sills, at the Astor, and finally parked on the hotel's marquee after tangling recklessly with the flagpole. Harassed members of New York's Finest captured the kerrier, but hardly had they finished mopping their brows when a tribe of Indians congregated in the lobby for an informal war dance, and the anguished gendarmes had to go to work again to make the Redskins bite the dust. What a town this is!

INSIDERS heard that Clare Boothe Luce's new play will be a departure from her usual type script, reflecting her recent absorption with religion. . . . Miss America of 1945—Venus Ramey—turned up at the Carnival with the intelligence that she had found Hollywood a big disappointment and was catching the local for Somerset, Kentucky, where she will operate a tomato cannery. . . . Local gossip had Nancy Oakes de Marigny, daughter of the murdered Sir Harry, about to embark on a screen career. A great part of the Oakes estate is behind Rank and Eagle-Lion films, if that's a clue. . . . "Louisiana Lady" came to town with nothing unusual about it. Sir Harry, about to lyricist, which is how Monte Carlo (the Man, not the Boite) happened to dine at Monte's on the Park; and Mary Boland appeared in a tiresome effort called "Opera House," which drew her no applause, just condolences.

Washington Scene

COVINGTON, 1947. by King Features Synd. BILOXI, MISS, June 9.—I was going to start this essay with breezy, "Well, here I am in Bilboiland." But desisted because it would be completely misleading. Probably nowhere in our fair land is Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo as defunct a dead duck as right here in his own bailiwick.

Most Mississippians act as if it was a strain on the memory trying to recall who Bilbo was. When they admit to vague recollection, they hurry on to something else—usually a query as to whom the dam Yankees will put up against Truman.

The truth seems to be that the majority of Mississippians want to forget "Mr. Hot Bilbo." Their story is that they never really had any use for him in the first place but were goaded into supporting him "to show those loud-mouthed buttin'kins up North they couldn't sneer at the people of the great Southern State of Mississippi."

TALKING TO THE average Mississippian about Bilbo is like talking to the average Argentinian about Peron. I was down in the Argentinian shortly after Col. Peron's election and was amazed at the vituperation tossed at the new president.

It wasn't whispered stuff either. Our State Department tried to convey the impression that free speech was verboten in the Argentinian and that the people were terrified to speak out against "the dictator."

If that was the case I ran into a lot of very foolhardy Argentinians. They were airing their opinions of Peron as loudly as their lungs could manage, on street corners, breakfast eateries, and hotel lobbies. It was a misdemeanor to speak out against the President these people were saying enough to get hanged 20 times over.

Nothing ever happened to them—at least while I was there. And don't think Peron was just waiting for my departure to crack down, holy terror though I am. So I asked the question that naturally leaped to mind—why, if they were so much against Peron, did they elect him?

One of Buenos Aires' most distinguished editors summed it up:

"Contrary to what the average Norteamericano seems to think, Peron didn't have the election sewed up. He had a terrific fight on his hands and it looked as if he were going to be beaten badly."

"Just at that point your Spruille Braden stepped in—and virtually ordered the people of Argentina not to vote for Peron on pain of incurring the displeasure of the great and powerful United States. It was a threat no self-respecting Argentinian could swallow. So our people swooped to the polls to demonstrate they couldn't be dictated to by a foreign power. Spruille Braden elected Peron."

Mr. Braden is now out of the State Department, and the betting down here is that Bilbo will never recover his strength sufficiently to resume his fight for a seat in the Senate—so we can turn, for the nonce, to other matters.

I am down here to make a speech before the Mississippi Press Ass'n, an organization of editors and publishers. All the editors I have broached to date assure me that Mississippi will go solid next year for Harry Truman.

They contend he is the best compromise obtainable with the New Deal, which they profess to despise.

THE SOUTH, these editors say, is keenly interested in what Truman will do with the labor bill. Mostly they are for it.

Incidentally, a group of them at a gabfest last night, told me the South made a grave error years ago in trying to attract industry with promises of "cheap labor."

"Was the sorriest thing we ever did," said one. "What we should have promised was 'more skilled labor.'"

"We want our living standards kept up—and any manufacturer who came down here with the idea of exploiting labor is a man we could better have done without!"

classes have expressed strong support of the measure, the first bill within memory of legislators which sought to give, instead of take something from the people.

Women particularly have been enthusiastic in their support of the bill since it will give them legal status as full partners in marriage, equal shares of all income and property derived after marriage or after passage of the law, whichever is later.

Representatives of powerful women's organizations throughout the state will be present at today's hearings. As a result of favorable discussion among 2000 delegates to the State American Legion Auxiliary convention at Swampscott last week, Adelaide Fitzgerald, secretary, will be present or send a representative.

The Veteran of Foreign Wars Auxiliary will also be represented. Mrs. Dorothea Lynch, legislative agent of the organization said.

A large delegation of women Democrats will attend the hearing. Mrs. Margaret O'Riordan, of Jamaica Plain, Democratic national committee woman announced.

"I have talked with many women about the Community Property bill," she said, "and I have found nothing but favorable sentiment."

Mrs. Suzanne Shalina, of Cambridge, recently elected president of the Women's Business and Professional Club, will be recorded in favor of the bill.

Already on record in favor of the bill is Mrs. Joseph E. Scanlon, of West Roxbury, president of the Boston City Federation which embraces a membership of 109,000 women.

Also recorded in favor are Mrs. James Higgins, head of the Consumers Guild, former State Sen. Sibyl Holmes and Mrs. Leslie B. Cutler, representative from Needham.

Unanimous support of organized labor will be voiced at the hearing, with the CIO legislative agent prepared to give the views of the membership.

The Mass. State Federation of Labor is already on record in favor of the bill, as are the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the State Transit Workers.

Other organizations which will have representatives present to urge passage of the bill are World War II Allied Veterans; United Veterans Political Action Committee and the Lawrence Chamber of Commerce.

Support of the State's towns has been pledged by John Hall, of South Sudbury, legislative agent for the Mass. Selectmen's Ass'n.

While the Mayors Club of Massachusetts has not had time to take action as a body, several mayors plan to appear at the hearing today.

Among them are Mayor Curley and Mayor Bernard L. Sullivan, of Chelsea, Dist. Atty. William Foley said he would either appear himself in favor of the bill, or send Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Sullivan to speak for him.

Rep. Peter Jordan of Revere, co-sponsor of the bill with Rep. David Cleary of Charlestown, has estimated that at least 95 per cent of the House membership will favor the bill and at least the majority of Senators.

Practically every representative and senator from Suffolk County has expressed himself in favor of the bill. Support has also come from representatives of industrial sections, Springfield, Worcester,

TRAGIC WAY OUT

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Coroner Neville Stafford ruled today Mrs. Maria Tate, a champion of women's rights and former conservative member of parliament found dead in her home June 5, was a victim of gas poisoning, self-administered while her mind was disturbed by ill health.

Physicians testified she had been "in agony" because of a kidney ailment. Stafford reported she left a note to her brother, Col. Kenneth Weir Hogg, saying she contemplated suicide because "an invalid is only a national liability today, and I cannot endure" the pain.

Fitchburg, Lynn, Lawrence and Lowell.

Former Mayor Roger L. Putnam, of Springfield, a businessman, yesterday gave his full support to the bill and urged its passage.

"Immediate passage of the Community Property bill," he said, "is necessary."

A SIMPLE BUSINESS TAX PLAN

Taxes on incomes able to pay.
No Sales Taxes or gas or other nuisance taxes.
Saving small taxpayers present tax 103 millions.

SENATE BILL NO. 189 INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAXES

30% ON INCOMES ABOVE $6000 Revenue 100 millions

Exemption $6000 and reduced Federal Taxes will cut actual state taxes to 7%.

Use of the funds 273 millions collected under this business plan that are not needed for state expense and are used for cities and towns to reduce real estate taxes and to abolish payroll taxes and for pensions or other purposes will reduce the actual cost for state government to less than 3%.

SENATE BILL NO. 188 CORPORATION INCOME TAXES

30% ON INCOMES ABOVE $10,000 Revenue 315 millions

Total Revenue 423 millions

$10,000 Exemption and reduced Federal Taxes will cut corporation actual tax cost to 16%.

Use of this revenue according to the following schedule will reduce the actual tax on corporations for state purposes to less than 6%.

So the total cost of state operation will only be 3% of individual incomes over $6000 and 6% of corporations over $10,000 and all the remainder of these funds will be available for cities and towns and for other purposes.

State taxes ARE DEDUCTIBLE from Federal Income, consequently, these tremendous tax reductions.

Corporation Federal Tax Reduction 38% of State Taxes. Individual Federal Tax Reduction 50% or more of State Taxes.

INCOME OF SENATE BILLS 188 AND 189

WILL PAY ALL STATE EXPENSES ESTIMATED 150 millions

PAY CITIES AND TOWNS $20 A THOUSAND 120 millions on all taxable property, providing liberally for education and welfare and local expense.

REFUND PAYROLL TAXES 50 millions

Inviting new industries, protecting all industries, helping to provide employment for everyone.

REMAINING FOR PENSIONS AND OTHER NEEDS 103 millions

Large Corporations in Massachusetts were given reductions 354 millions on Federal Excess Profit Taxes on 1946 incomes. Senate Bills 188 and 189 will partially equalize that action by cancelling income taxes below $6000 and $10,000 incomes. The value of circulation of 326 millions under this plan will be more than if 175,000 new employees were added to industry in this state at income of $3000 each.

Kelly Trial

cated Kelly with the story you read about money being asked. A—(after hesitating) Yes.

Q—What did you do. A—I went to Kelly's house and talked to him about the story. I told him that this Comoletti was the fellow who was at his house that night last year when I went to talk with him about going into the laundry business with him. Kelly recalled that I had seen him there and he told me it was the only time Comoletti had visited his home. He said he couldn't see how the story was referring to him.

Q—But the story made such an impression on you that you went to his home that same evening. A—Yes.

Q—You couldn't wait until the next day when you would see him at your place of business. A—No.

Q—Where were you on Saturday, June 8, 1946. A—I was with Mr. Kelly all day, he dropped me at my house at 6 o'clock.

Q—So you weren't at his house that evening. A—No.

Q—And you say it was the night of June 10 that Comoletti was at the Kelly house the same time you were. A—About then.

Q—Have you had any conversation with the defendant since court adjourned yesterday. A—Yes. I was with him for three hours last night.

Q—Did you discuss your testimony. A—No, I didn't.

Q—What did you do. A—I went to the laundry in Wollaston, then to Frank Kelly's house to pick up a bundle. Then we drove around with a constable who was serving summonses.

Q—And nothing was said about your testimony. A—No.

In re-direct examination Murphy asked if the witness had noticed anyone following them while they rode together last night. Doyle objected and the question was excluded.

The next two defense witnesses were placed on the stand to refute the prosecution contention that no one had asked Kelly to oppose the garage permit application of Comoletti and Anthony Donato of Watertown.

Albert Beaton of Dorchester ave. testified he asked Kelly to oppose the petition on behalf of his parents, who lived three houses away from the site of the proposed garage. In cross-examination he admitted he had not sought opposition to similar permits in the area.

Franklin Johnson, also of Dorchester ave., said he had requested Kelly to oppose the petition on behalf of himself and his family.

Three witnesses, including the defendant, still remain to be heard before Murphy completes his case. It is expected the locked-up jury will be given the case no later than Thursday.

Already, Murphy has indicated that Kelly will say that he hung up the telephone on John Comoletti of Mattapan when the latter allegedly offered a bribe to assure a permit for a garage he planned to operate with his partner.

A highlight of earlier testimony was that of Patrick J. McCarthy of Morgan rd., Quincy, who said he visited a Dorchester ave. diner one night in April, a few days before Kelly was indicted, and overheard a conversation between Comoletti and another man he addressed as "Eddie." "This Eddie told him he thought Comoletti was making a mistake sticking his nose into the case," McCarthy testified. "Comoletti said he was being well taken care of and that a newspaper had offered him five grand to go through with it."

Connecticut Youth Dies, 2 Hurt in Car Crash

NEWTOWN, Ct., June 10 (AP)—Albert F. Corliss, 20, of Milford, was instantly killed, and two companions were critically injured when their automobile left the road and crashed into a highway fence post on Route 25 here.

Corliss' two companions, Donald Fuzzo, 16, of Stratford, and Robert J. Pelletier, 27, of Bridgeport, were removed to Danbury Hospital, where their condition was said this morning to be critical.

New Lotion Deodorant

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THERE'S MORE to beauty than meets the eye . . . and it is the smart girl who knows it. She's the gal who makes a paying-off sum total of all the supposedly little things . . . and consequently emerges a triumphant example of basic femininity.

Which is by the way of introducing you to a new lotion deodorant-antiperspirant. If we didn't tell you what the bottle contained . . . you would think it held a quantity of luscious peach frappe. For that is how it appears. But within its insidiously soft-looking peach-glow liquid there is potent protection against hot and sticky weather's by-product . . . underarm discomfort and social insecurity.

It is a new type . . . evolved after considerable and painstaking research . . . that's delightful, effective and economical and a complete protection for femininity. It's a mild lotion with a flower-fresh fragrance that's as light and creamy-smooth as the most delicate face lotion.

And it comes with a soft sponge applicator which makes its use simple and easy and productive of just the right quantity to assure dependable, round-the-clock safeguard. Because it is both a deodorant and antiperspirant . . . it banishes odor and checks perspiration immediately . . . keeps the armpits fresh and sweet. And because it is fast-drying . . . it can be applied a few minutes before dressing. Then, too, it is non-sticky . . . non-staining, too.

SAFE TO CLOTHING AND SKIN

We're charmed by its niceness . . . both in looks, efficacy and acquiescence to use.

This new-type lotion deodorant is a personal joy . . . one every woman will want to try because it is so feminine to the eye and so utterly charming in its resultant application. Safe to clothing and skin . . . its assurance comes from the embodiment in its formula of an exciting new commercial chemical known as aluminum chlorhydrate complex. This new ingredient is a product of years of intensive research and testing for a more effective but milder antiperspirant agent . . . and the cosmetic house sponsoring this new lotion deodorant obviously has snared it in a most appealing form.

It is such a pleasantly feminine lotion that a woman doesn't think twice about using it. It has definite feminine appeal . . . and such unique advantages that even discussing it has pleasant implications. Not until we tried it would we believe that such an obviously innocuous-looking summer lotion could have such justifiably enthusiastic support and purposeful endurance.

For the name of this new type lotion deodorant-antiperspirant, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BUSY WOMEN . . . fastidious women . . . who demand the smartest fashion . . . such as this Glenwear version of the new longer look in this snug-fitting blouse of a lively and lovely print . . . also demand the most purposeful and specific beauty aids for the preservation of their individual social security. A new lotion deodorant-antiperspirant which looks like a luscious peach frappe is cosmetic science's newest contribution to top-flight femininity.

This Girl Learned From Experience

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

SOME PEOPLE have unhappy experiences and, refusing to allow themselves to get over them normally, remember them with bitterness all their lives. Others—though he showed affection until I spoiled it all. I got the idea that I was too distant with him myself, so I wrote him a letter telling him I loved him, and gave it to his sister to give him. He had told her he loved me, but had never told me.

"This was the greatest mistake of my life. Soon after, he didn't bother much about me except to tease me, and he would hug other girls in my presence to make me feel bad. I overheard him telling a boy friend of his that he could have a big time now, because I would love him regardless of what he did.

"I was soft-hearted enough to go on loving him, because I thought I could never forget him, and I almost had a nervous breakdown. Now I realize that I didn't really love him. He moved away, and love went with him. For a while I was heart-broken, but time has taken it all from me, and I'm out now to find like one who really do love and one who would make a perfect mate.

"'BLONDIE'
More power to you Blondie! And I hope your letter will help other girls, as you wish it to do. (Copyright 1947, King Features Sys., Inc.)

Aprons Now Fashionable

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE most fashionable women have taken to wearing aprons when they get all dressed up for the festive gatherings that crowd the summer social calendar. These are aprons with an elegant air.

The apron effect gives a new line to the kind of dress that smart women love to wear for their gala moments. It is a line that is especially flattering to the larger figure for it breaks in on that long waist to hemline sweep that adds unwelcome inches to a tall woman.

The dress sketched today, designed by Villa Sigmund, uses an apron front to balance a shawl shoulder line. Made of bright leaf crepe with a tiny leaf and flower pattern, this dress has a tight, slim skirt with the apron set in a hip yoke. Looped edging decorates the shawl top and the apron front.

THE HOODED look is the new look for fall . . . and as a jump on the season we're showing you how Glentex fashions close-fitting coat out of a brilliant batik silk scarf square colored with the deep rich tones heralded for the autumn. Reminiscent of a medieval helmet . . . the scarf is worn tight around the head . . . under a little hat . . . drawn forward over the ears and pinned close in front to form a snug hood. It's a cute idea even for cool summer evenings.—R.M.

Hamburgers A La Super

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

THERE ARE ALL SORTS of hamburgers and it seems as though there are tastes for every way you can think of serving them.

Some people consider hamburgers a gourmet's delight with a bit of bleu cheese crumbled into the meat before broiling. This unusual addition of cheese works magic in transforming the simple burger into a superb treat. As the meat broils, the cheese softens and the tangy flavor permeates through the patties, making them truly Superburgers.

This recipe for de luxe hamburgers is very easy to prepare, because it contains only a few simple ingredients, and it can be served in a jiffy after a few minutes' browning under the broiler. Superburgers are economical and highly nutritious food which will add interest to summer suppers—and will be a special treat when broiled outdoors on picnics.

SUPERBURGERS

1 lb. hamburger
2-3 cup evaporated milk
2 tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
1/2 cup crumbled bleu cheese

Blend meat and milk. Add salt, pepper and cheese and mix thoroughly. Shape into patties and broil under moderate heat in broiler until of desired doneness. Turning is not necessary if moderate heat is used. Makes 6 patties.

To other hamburger fanciers, the method which calls for grilling them with onion and tomato makes first place. There are still others who enjoy the additional fillip offered by bread crumbs mixed with the meat, or hamburgers served in a stew with dumplings, or rolled in baking powder biscuit dough, sliced, and baked in the oven. Let's try some of these recipes:

GRILLED HAMBURGER WITH BERMUDA ONION AND TOMATO

1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 lb. ground beef
1 Bermuda onion
Melted butter
Paprika
2 tomatoes
Few grains salt, pepper, sugar

Mix 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper with ground beef. Shape into 6 patties about 1 inch thick. Cut onion into 4 slices and simmer gently for 5 minutes in small amount of water. Arrange meat patties on broiler grill. Place pan so surface of meat is 2 inches from broiling unit. Broil 6 to 8 minutes. Turn meat patties. Add onion slices brushed with butter and sprinkled with paprika, and halved tomatoes sprinkled with salt, pepper and a little sugar. Broil 8 minutes longer. Serve on hot buttered toast or buttered buns.

HAMBURGER DUMPLING STEW

1 1/2 lbs. lean beef, ground
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 cup onion juice
1-3 cup fat
1 tbsp. flour
2 cups hot water
1 cup tomato soup
1 tbsp. chili sauce relish
Dumplings

Mix beef with salt, pepper and onion juice, shape lightly into small cakes and sear in fat in hot frying pan until well browned; remove cakes. Stir flour into drippings in pan, add water, tomato soup and chili sauce relish, and bring to a boil. Return cakes to pan and drop 1 tablespoon dumpling mixture on top of each, cover closely and cook 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Smart Set Chick Bridal June 17

By BETTY ALDEN
WEDDING BELLS will chime a week from today in honor of Constance Hartley Chick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chick of Winchester, and Wentworth Dutton Shepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Shepard of Waban.

They will be married June 17 in First Parish Unitarian Church of Arlington with Rev. Ralph H. and "Cappy" O'Connell, the latter soon to go to New York for additional coaching of her voice—and with them, Dick O'Brien, David Collins and Eddie O'Brien.

PIN FOR PAPA

RICHMOND, Va., June 10 (AP)—The National Institute of Diaper Services came up with a merit badge for prospective paterfamilias.

It will be a large gold safety pin. William R. Gause, president of NIDS whose executive committee met here, said his organization felt fathers-to-be deserved some recognition. NIDS was forming a national club to give it to them, Gause said, and there would be no dues and no profits involved.

Byrd Film Tickets Sent JVA Leaders

Guest tickets for 1500 admissions to see "Discovery," Adm. Byrd's epic motion picture of his adventures in Antarctica, at 9 a. m. Saturday at the new Center Theater, Washington st., at Stuart, have been mailed to commanders of the Junior Victory Army of Greater Boston.

The comical antics of penguins in the South Polar region will offer the children special amusement.

Their comedy lightens the excitement, drama and awesomeness of Nature which makes "Discovery" one of the best of action pictures.

This film paints in bold colors the courage and hardihood of the band of adventurers who accompanied Byrd on the South Pole expedition. And it's a real tribute to those who explored the last unknown region of the world and brought many of its secrets for American science and knowledge.

Cartoons and a newsreel will complete the program for the JVA officers.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Wednesday's Daily Record.

Dingle Shines, but New Play Doesn't

By PEGGY DOYLE

Charles Dingle, who has given so much authority to previous theatrical seasons, last night somewhat retrieved Edith Gordon's production of the new Ilberman Boxer play, "Dark Memory," with another of his persuasive performances.

The Wilbur's new play is not likely to establish any Broadway records, but it is a pleasant reminder of Dingle's authoritative make-believing.

Dingle, whose "Little Foxes" established him as one of the theater's great artists, again persuades one regarding his Thespian talents in this one. He is stuck with a play that is not up to his talents but he does the best that can be done with the material at hand.

Hollywood's photogenic Mary Anderson is cast as Dingle's severely tried daughter in "Dark Memory." She lends a great deal of verve and appeal to the waning "legit" season.

But this "meller" doesn't fell although there is a last-act snapper that may fool some of the people at least until after they have left the theater.

HEADIN' FOR WEDDIN'—Shirley Temple and Guy Madison cause plenty of side-splitting complications when they try to get married in RKO Radio's romantic comedy, due tomorrow on Keith Memorial screen.

HARTMANS IN MUSICAL

The Hartmans, Paul and Grace, will be seen here in an intimate musical, "Heaven Help the Angels," on July 7, when John Huntington and Lew Falk will present them in N. E. Mutual Hall.

"WESTERNER" AT BEACON

The Gary Cooper-starring "The Westerner" continues on the Beacon screen through tomorrow night, with "That Brennan Girl," teaming James Dunn and Mona Freeman, as the co-feature.

Abbott-Costello Film for Boston

"Buck Private Comes Home," Abbott and Costello's comedy sequel to their previous "Buck Privates," opens on the RKO-Boston screen on Thursday. The companion film will be "Michigan Kid," with Jon Hall and Rita Johnson.

The plot of the newest Abbott-Costello picture concerns the pair's return to civilian life and their problems trying to retain and make a home for a little French orphan they have smuggled out of Europe. The orphan is played by eight-year-old Beverly Simmons.

Other featured players are Tom Brown, Joan Fulton, Nat Pendleton and Donald MacBride.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening
Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Q—Can you suggest trees for wind-breaks?
A—One of the best trees for a wind-break is red pine. This tree is fast growing and if they are planted six to eight feet apart will give good results.

Q—How can deadly bugs be killed on house plants?
A—Dip a cotton cloth in alcohol solution and wipe them off.

Q—Will crow repellents keep pigeons and pheasants from digging up seeds?
A—Seed corn that is tarred is not pulled as readily by birds. Such seeds as peas and beans seem to be retarded in germination by using repellents, especially during cold wet spells.

Q—How would DDT be applied to plants? Dust or wet spray?
A—DDT can be purchased as a 3 per cent or 5 per cent dust or as a 25 to 50 per cent wettable powder to mix with water to apply as a spray. For home gardeners, the dusts are easier to use.

Q—Our peonies are badly infested with ants. How can they be controlled?
A—Dust plants with DDT dust, and spray with nicotine sulphate to control aphids.

Q—How long will DDT dust be effective on plants?
A—When exposed to sun and rain its effect will probably be for about two weeks. New growth must be kept covered.

MacArthur Opens Door To Private Jap Trade

TOKYO, June 10 (AP)—Japanese businessmen welcomed today Gen. MacArthur's announced reopening of private trade on Aug. 15 as a long-awaited initial step, but not a final solution of their quest for international markets.

Neith Gen. MacArthur nor Japanese officials expect private business to accomplish more at the outset than stimulation of the limited export trade now under way.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (saccharic) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

32 Man Who Knows What's a Matter With Red Sox

By AUSTEN LAKE

HERE'S A CURE for Joe Cronin's acid stomach, spots-before-his-eyes, migraine headaches and such asserted managerial ills. Just send for the "swat doctor," Joe, and the Red Sox hitting troubles are over.

At least such is the brash hunk of typographical hokum published in a current national magazine, entitled "He makes 'em hit" and glorifying a Pacific Coast ad-man named Bert Dunne, formerly of Cambridge. It captions this one with "He knows more about batting than anyone in the country." No, it's not an advertisement! It's an article!

According to this gem of press agency, all the Sox need to quit popping and rolling out, is to summon Dunne, a close pal of Cronin's, and have him make a clinical study of what ails Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio, Rudy York, Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr. A brief examination, a few words of kindly counsel, and Bingo!—the boys are back in pennant stride.

Dunne Came to Make a Movie

THE ARTICLE TELLS HOW last season Dunne came for his annual visitation with Cronin at Fenway Park and Joe had him huddle with Bobby Doerr. Dunne lectured Bobby on his flat-footed stance and his hip-hitch. Presto! Says the mag author, "Bobby promptly shortened his stance and lengthened his stride six inches. He started to hit again and finished with an average close to 300". (Ed Note—Let's be exact. It was .271.)

Writes the author, "All this happened because Doerr was smart enough to listen to the foremost expert on the mechanics of baseball..." Fancy that! And while he was at it Dunne "tossed in some gratuitous advice to Ted Williams" on how to hit inside pitches. An illustration shows Dunne giving the assembled Red Sox (looking very bored) a demonstration on how to bunt.

Then why is it, if this advice was so potent, that Doerr is now batting .246, or worse than ever, and how is it Williams is hitting .290, or lowest in his career? Call the "swat doctor," Joe! The case is malignant.

The writer is acquainted with Bert Dunne, who seems a likeable, albeit high-tension ear-bender gifted with the fine art of persuasion. He came to Fenway a year ago to make a movie-short of Ted Williams' batting style for free-lance distribution—at a royalty. I asked Cronin about him and Joe grinned, "O he's one of those guys with an angle." Cronin's attitude was that, if the publicity didn't do any good, it wouldn't hurt. Besides Dunne ran a boy's baseball school and had authored a book named "Play Ball Son" which sold 15,000 copies. So between games Joe gave him the run of the field. And that's the last we heard of Dunne until this magazine ballyhoo. This belongs in the same category as the stock market book-authors who tell their readers how to make sudden riches, but somehow never manage to enrich themselves. For Dunne, besides a brief try-out with the Giants never climbed higher than Class B ball. How deeply Giants, never climbed higher than Class B ball. How deeply reported dialogue with the late John McGraw. "You are ruining Lindstrom as a hitter," charged the peppery kid, launching into a discourse on the "mobile front foot" and "natural physical posture." McGraw stood transfixed! "I hope you realize," continued Dunne, "that Ross Young is in a slump because of your unscientific ideas." The story tells how Dunne corrected Young's defects and "soon he was blasting balls to the far corners of the park."

He Made Cronin Hit a Homer

THERE IS NOTHING RETICENT about the yarn! For example, and I quote: "Once in Detroit Joe Cronin was having a dreadful afternoon, at bat and the Sox were trailing the Bengals 4 to 3, with a runner on second and two out in the ninth. Thrice previously Joe had popped up most feebly. Thrice Dunne had gestured to him from his box, indicating that the Sox manager was guilty of a hand-hitch, dropping his hands while the ball was in flight."

"This time Cronin nodded toward his old friend and adviser. What happened? You guessed it! Cronin arched a titanic sock for a home run and 'only three men in the park—Cronin, Ewald and Dunne—realized that Bert had been responsible for it." Well, powder my coarse complexion!

If this be so—and Cronin is not in Boston to explain it, what are we waiting for? Send for the "swat doctor." Pay him a $20,000 retainer fee and put him to work on Ted, Bobby, Dom, Johnny and Rudy! If he is as good as the mag article says—and mind you this is one of our top-ranking periodicals, Bert Dunne is worth a 10 per cent cut of the Sox gate receipts. If he isn't, then why do reputable magazines publish such indigestible trash?

Just this a. m. the writer and Jolly Cholly Grimm of the Cubs were chatting about the curious collapse of 1946's leading hitters—Musial, Vernon, Williams, Greenberg, to name a few. It amounts to an epidemic! Cholly kept rubbing his mobile nose and muttering "I dunno." Why are last season's eighth-place Giants leading the league while the world champion Cardinals are last. "I dunno," rumbled Cholly. What about the Red Sox? "Search me," said Cholly. And neither do any other major league managers know and I've asked most of them. So, if Bert Dunne knows, send him to see Joe. He's worth one of Tom Hawkey's millions. Or a humbug's medal!

Barrett Hurling Makes Deal Loom as Year's Best

By BILL GRIMES

During the early weeks of the season, Charley "Red" Barrett had his trouble getting any opponents out but he has been sensational in his last three games.

Bob Quinn brought the "Boys from Syracuse," Barrett and Nate Andrews to the Braves in 1943. "Red" remained with the Tribe for two years but on the first Western trip in 1945, he was sent to the Cardinals along with a bundle of folding money for Mort Cooper. He was a 23-game winner that season but a year ago, Mgr. Eddie Dyer gave Red the old brush-off. In fact, he ignored him almost completely, using the red-head in 23 games during which Barrett pitched only 67 innings and wound up with a 3 and 2 record but did cut in for a full share of the World's Series dough.

At the annual meeting of the National League last December, Billy Southworth asked the Braves to get him Barrett from the Cards. He has great faith in "Red." Barrett is now the "bell cow" of the Braves pitching corps.

Barrett turned in his best performance of the season last night when he shut out the Chicago Cubs and allowed only one hit. He pitched a one-hitter against the Phils a year ago but compared to the Cubs the Blue Jays are "soft touches." In 1945, Barrett pitched a one-hitter for the Cardinals against the Cubs. He's now the proud possessor of three one-hit games.

On Memorial Day, Barrett shut out the Dodgers 3 to 0, giving up only five hits. Last Wednesday he let the Cardinals down with six hits, two of which (both doubles) came in the first inning, producing the world champions' lone run, which was two short of the Braves' tally and "Red" was returned a 3 to 1 winner.

Barrett was master of the situation at all times last night. He held the Cubs hitless until two were down in the 6th, when Hank Borowy, who was hitting .087 hit a half blooper just out of the reach of Sibby Smith. Only four Cubs reached first base, Borowy, Rickard, who drew the only walk "Red" has given up in three games and Cavarretta and Nicholson who got on via errors by Earl Torge.

It might be just as well to mention that the Braves' lone run was driven in by Bob Elliott who singled Tommy Holmes home in the 7th.

Borowy was the losing pitcher. The former Yankee always has his troubles with the Braves. He was moved for seven hits. The victory nipped the Tribe nearer the top spot in the National League standings.

BATING: Walker Cooper, Giants—Hit two home runs to drive in five runs in the Giants' 13-10 win over Pittsburgh; his second homer coming in the bottom of the ninth inning with two PITCHING: Red Barrett, Braves—Fitted a one-hitter as the Braves nipped the Cubs 1-0. The only hit made off him was a single by Red's rival pitcher Hank Borowy, in the sixth inning.

Sain Goes for No. 6 Against Cubs' Schmitz

Big Johnny Sain and Lefty Johnny Schmitz will be the opposing pitchers this afternoon in the second game of the Braves-Cubs series at the Wigwam. Big John will be shooting for his sixth win and Schmitz will have a 5 and 5 record if he comes up with his first win over the Tribe... Clyde Shoun, the latest acquisition to the Braves pitching corps, is due to arrive at 6 o'clock tonight. The ex-Red wired Mgr. Billy Southworth that he was on his way here and ready to go. "Skippy" Roberge, the ex-Brave now playing second base for the Milwaukee Brewers has finally overtaken Cliff Mace, Kansas City in the battle for top batting honors in the American Ass'n. The Lowell boy is hitting .406 while Mace is back at .388. "Skippy" has connected with 58 hits and his RBI is 25.

While standing behind the cage during the Cubs' batting practice cage "Peanut" Lowrey was hit on the left ankle by a foul ball and was carried to the dressing room by Clyde McCullough. Lowrey's injury made it necessary for Manager Charlie Grimm to make an 11th hour change in his lineup. He sent Don Johnson to Lowrey's berth at third and Lorne Frey to the keystone sack... The Chicago Cubs will go to Pittsburgh after tomorrow's double-header to play the Pirates Thursday night. They will leave for home immediately after the game. Believe it or not, the Cubs played a three-game series in the Smoky City on this trip... With the exception of Big Dan, Sibby's father, the Sain family is residing in Newton Center. Mrs. Sain, Sr. came on from Buffalo with Mrs. Sain, Jr. and the three children. Big Dan will vacation here in August.

Dominic Dallasaracho, the Cubs' "Five by Five" utility outfielder is still hounding Johnny Garro for imported olive oil... Tommy Holmes robbed Eddie Waitkus of an extra base hit in the third by picking a drive off the screen in front of the jury box. It was one of "Kelly's" best clutches... Johnny Hopp wiggles the fingers of his right hand constantly while waiting for the pitcher to deliver. It's a habit that probably even Johnny doesn't realize he has acquired... Apparently, the National League managers have passed the word to their pitchers to "slow up" on Earl Torgeson. But, "Torgy" is too smart a hitter to go for that treatment for any length of time. Once Torgeson starts hitting "change ups" to the opposite field, the boys will shift their routine.

"Red" Barrett made short work of the Cubs until two were out in the sixth. Up to that point, only 17 men had faced Barrett, despite an error by Earl Torgeson. Then, Hank Borowy connected with a broken bat single just out of Sibby Sisti's reach... The scribes gave "Red" Hoffman, the announcer at Braves Field, a real going over after a "plug" for the Radio over the public address system.

Time Out for Sox Fans to Ponder Champ's Future

Tex Hughson

By HERB FINNEGAN

CLEVELAND, June 10—Time for reflection. Time to glance back over the shoulder. Time to look ahead. Time for lots of things as you wait around for Joe Dobson (5-3) to tee off against Allen Gettel (0-1) in the second game of the Red Sox-Indians series under the stars tonight.

The Sox took the first game of the series, 7-5, but didn't cover themselves with glory in the doing. Sam Mele's hitting and Wally Moses' fielding cemented the decision for Tex Hughson, his third victory against five defeats.

Tex was good only in spots. He fanned eight, gave only seven hits, and that looks very good on paper. But he threw his 9th and 10th homerun balls of the season, blew a 5-0 lead, and that isn't the type of pitching expected of a 20-game winner.

In his 11 starts this season he has completed only four games. Williams won one game for him with a two-run homer in the last of the ninth after Cramer's pinch hit had put the Tigers ahead 4-3. Mele beat the Indians here with his two-run homer in the eighth. Even then Tex barely squeezed in because Robinson's vicious line drive was caught at the fence by Moses. A foot higher and the score would have been tied at 7-all. The only rip-snorting game Hughson's pitched this year was his 1-0, two-hit game against the Yankees on April 24—a long time ago.

Harris in Debut

He hasn't proved dependable and the Sox will be hard put for pitching if he doesn't get better in a hurry. Thus, Mickey Harris' debut tomorrow may be the key to the Sox 1947 story. If Mickey's arm kicks up, it will be most difficult for the Sox to repeat. They haven't any pitchers on their farms that will help. They have only a week left in which to trade, but since Connie Mack refused to do business with Cleveland, he also may refuse to talk to the Sox, though the Sox have more to offer in the way of infield material than the Indians. And Mack needs infielders.

But enough of gloom for the day. There remain, of course, 62 games to be played at Fenway and the Sox usually do well at home. Despite the "bush" ball they've been playing, they've only four games off the roof—a break that comes once in a lifetime.

They ought to clean up the remaining two games here because Cleveland's pitching behind Feller and Embree isn't hard to take, and both men pitched Sunday. That would send them home with a 7-10 record on the road which wouldn't be bad.

Yeh, there's still hope because the pitching can't possibly get any worse and it might get better. The hitting is bound to improve.

It just doesn't figure that Doerr, Pesky, Williams and York will be off their feed much longer (nor DiMaggio when he returns to action). They were the backbone of the championship club a year ago. If and when they hit, the Sox pitchers can win even though they do give up five runs a game.

Mele? Wonderful, that's all. He's a kid with only one year of pro ball (Class A) behind him, pacing the league champions at bat. He's hitting a cool .336 and is up with the league leaders.

"He's our everything at the moment," says Cronin in admiration. "Just think where we'd be if the other boys were hitting as they did last year and Mele was giving us that extra." Mele had a single, double, homer for the day, drove in three runs, scored two.

It isn't often that a rookie, no matter how fine a prospect, spearheads a team of all-stars. They usually lift a kid up with them. With Mele, it's worked in reverse. But then he's an exception, as Phil's scout Joe Reardon said in Philadelphia last summer:

"I've watched him at Scranton for three months," said Reardon, "and he's the best ballplayer in the minors. I don't care what classification. He's ready. He doesn't need a year in A-1 or triple A. He'll be your right fielder next season and for many seasons to come. He's the most natural right-handed hitter to break in since DiMaggio. He's likely to top up the rookie of the year."

Mr. Reardon who scouted for the Red Sox under Herb Pennock and who moved to Philadelphia with the old southpaw, can take a bow. There's no other rookie but Mele among the big five.

Feller to Barnstorm

BOB FELLER HASN'T LAD any specific plans for his post-season barnstorming tour, "but I'll make one," said the Cleveland ace. "I've not only been flooded with requests from cities all over the nation but from ball players as well (Feller's Tourists picked up more dough than either the Cays, or Sox made in the World Series) I hate to stay idle, like to be on the move."

Feller whose pitching obituary was written last year and again this year, hurled a 2-0, three-hitter against the A's Sunday. "Had good stuff," he admitted. "My curve ball was better than at any time this year. Don't know what caused me to have that losing streak a while back (failed to finish three times in a row). Maybe I was working too hard between starts, throwing too much, exercising too much. I don't know. Has anybody ever been able to find the right answer? I know my arm is sound, and that's the main thing."

Gutteridge's second inning homer was made inside the park, the first such since the fence was erected and very likely the last. The ball hit the fence at the 380-foot mark and bounded away from Metkovich. Even then only Gutteridge's great speed enabled him to score. "Never would have made it if Pesky and Tebbetts hadn't yelled 'Hit the dirt,'" says Gutteridge. "Lopez got excited, a beautiful decoy at the plate. I was ready to go in standing up, and I'd have been dead duck. That Lopez is a cutie."

For a little fellow, Gutteridge can spank the ball a long way. And for a fellow who is below the 200 mark, he's hitting the ball hard. So his roommate Birdie Tebbetts, another under 200 hitter before he got chased for disputing Umpire Ed Hurley's walk to Boudreau, Tebbetts had singled to right and lined a drive to Gordon that avenged the second sacker around . . . "Hurley got excited," said Tebbetts of the chase. "I think he realized he made a mistake and was going to let me resume play if Rabbit-ears Boudreau hadn't overheard him. I didn't swear at Hurley. I never swear at an umpire. But he missed the pitch that walked Boudreau, and when he denied it, I got mad. I don't like umpires lying to me." . . . Tebbetts' scrappy play is just what the doctor ordered for the Sox. It is one reason why the club is bound to improve.

PROVIDENCE NEXT

The Hearst Sandlot Baseball Tournament moves on to Providence on Saturday morning, June 21, following the try-outs at Worcester.

Ambrose Joins Sandlot Board in Worcester

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Johnny Ambrose, a graduate of Catholic Univ. and the director of athletics for the Worcester public schools, will serve on the board of baseball experts who will select the best amateur baseball players from the Worcester district in the current sandlot try-outs sponsored by the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser. The tryouts will be held at the Oval in Worcester at 3 p.m. Wednesday, June 18.

Ambrose played baseball and football for the Catholic University team just a little more than a decade ago. After he left C. U. Johnnie spent an interlude with the pro-football New York Giants as a center but has kept up his rabid enthusiasm for baseball.

The Nation-wide Hearst sandlot tryouts are raging white hot in New England. At Lawrence, recently 193 amateur ball players ranging from 15 to 18 years of age competed in the eliminations. George Kissell, George Atkinson, Mark Devlin, Felix Andrus, Brother Furman, Brother Linus, Nick Carter and other coaches and athletic leaders were unanimous in their statements that the Lawrence trials did more for amateur baseball in their locality than any other sandlot promotion ever attempted.

The results will be the same in Worcester. Earl Brigham, Jack Nugent, Bill Regan and others have organized a great board of baseball experts to pass judgment on the more than 200 sandlot players who will compete.

The two best ball players from the Worcester area will compete in the Fenway Park New England final on July 29th. After the N. E. title game the kids will be feted at a monster banquet at the Hotel Kenmore.

Then the New York trip for the National Hearst final at the Polo Grounds on Aug. 13.

Harry Walker, whose batting failures with St. Louis hastened his sale to the Phillies, tops both major leagues in hitting with a
.383 average, 21 points better than his nearest competitor in the National League and 27 points higher than Joe Dimaggio of New York and Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, who are tied for the American League lead at .356.

Walker regained first place by belting the ball at a 500 clip during the past week, while Johnny Mize of New York skidded into a tie for third place. Walker was followed by Enos Slaughter of St.
Louis, .362, and Mize and Bert
Haas of Cincinnati, each with .338.
Johnny Hopp of Boston rounds out the first five with .333, in figures including Sunday's games.

Dimaggio and Boudreau displaced George McQuinn of the New York Yankees who lost 19 points while failing to fourth place.
Neither Dimaggio nor Boudreau were being pressed by outside competition as runnerup Stan
Spence of Washington was 17 points back at .339. McQuinn at
.335 and George Kelly of Detroit and Pat Mullin of Detroit, tied at .329 filled the other leading positions.

Fall River Girl Bows In 4th Duel

GULLANE, Scotland, June 10 (AP)—Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the main U. S. threat for the British women's golf crown, crushed Mrs. Cosmo Falkner, 6 and 5, in a fourth-round match today to gain tomorrow's quarter-finals.

The Babe, wife of Denver wrestling promoter George Zaharias, built up a five-hole lead in the first nine holes, which she traveled

BULLETIN
GULLANE, Scotland, June 10 (AP)—Ruth Woodward of Fall River, Mass., was eliminated from the British women's amateur golf championship in the fourth round today when she bowed to Mrs. M. K. MacKean of Wales, 1 up.

In 33 strokes—four below women's par and two under the unofficial figures for men.

On the fourth hole of the out nine, Mrs. Zaharias scored a deuce when her tee shot stopped 40 feet from the pin and she sank the long putt on her first try.

In the morning round she defeated Mrs. Val Reddan, former Irish champion, 6 and 5, at Rother Woodward of Fall River, Mass., eliminated Catherine Park of Scotland, 1 up.

Helen Sigel of Philadelphia, expected to be Mrs. Zaharias' foe in the final Thursday, was defeated by Miss M. G. Smyth of Ireland, 3 and 2.

Miss Sigel played top-notch golf in defeat, but was beaten on the greens by Miss Smyth's deadly putter.

Others who won their way into the fourth round were Jean Donald, the Scottish hope for the championship, who scored a 6-and-5 victory over Jean McCulloch, and the Irish champion, Philomena Garvey of County Louth. She defeated Mrs. S. Munro, 5 and 3.

Mrs. Reddan was warm in her praise of Mrs. Zaharias after their match.

"She is the best player I ever met," she declared.

Westminster May Not Go in Gov.'s Anglers Stymied

By DAVE WILSON

NARRAGANSETT PARK, June 10—The current $64 question at Gansett is whether or not the Shamrock Stable's Westminster is to be shipped here to compete in Saturday's $10,000 Governor's Handicap, or remain at Atlantic City to run in the week-end feature at the seaside resort oval.

Trainer Jimmy McGee, who knows the answer, is at Atlantic City. . . . When he came here to saddle Air Patrol for his triumph in the Spring Handicap the past Saturday, Jimmy is supposed to have told a certain Gansett official that he definitely intended to ship Westminster here for the one mile and 70 yards test. . . . But yesterday a report originating from a reliable source at Atlantic City had it that the Shamrock Stable star would remain there. . . . Efforts to reach McGee via long distance yesterday morning were fruitless.

An outmolded starting gate and not Starter Jack Hennessey may be responsible for the majority of poor starts which have marred racing at Narragansett since the inception of the current meeting.

Oilers' Joe Powers Set to Cool Bats Of West Roxbury

East Boston will converge en masse on American Legion Park tonight when the Gould Oilers, in second place in the West Division of the Park League, are at home to the vaunted West Roxbury club in the stand-out of seven tilt. Oilers' Manager Prentice Perry will send cool Joe Powers to the rubber to stop the explosive bats of McLeod, Carom, Slincy and Farrell.

George McCarthy will rely on Dave Saliba to tame the Boston Giants, when the colorful South End club, that has hung onto top spot in the West for five weeks, makes its initial appearance of the campaign at C. J. Lee Park. At Smith Field in Allston, the Artesian and Linehan continue their series, begun last night at Southie with a 17-16 win by the Artesian in a slugfest which saw each club racking up 14 bingles.

Two Roxbury entries tangle at Eustis, where a bitter rivalry between Brookline Sign strategist Joe McLaughlin and Hal Crosby will be renewed. Joe now has classy shortstop Johnny Falwell back from Duke U. and Joe Kelliher, down from Portland of the N. E. League for the battle tonight.

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

In behalf of myriads of anglers, we're writing the following letter to the weatherman: "Dear Sir: How about a bit of cooperation? All during last week, the salt-water fishing was fair to good, with large schools of savory striped bass arriving along the Cape. Expecting fast sport, hundreds of fishermen trekked to their favorite rendezvous for the week-end. Result few catches, driving rains and no-east winds. "And while we're griping, can't we please have a stretch of nice warm, sunny weather? We've had practically no spring; the trout fishing has hit a new low in the Bay State because of inclement conditions; and many anglers don't know what to do with the scores of flies they've tied on bad days.

"So we don't think we're asking too much—just a few fair days and some better fishing. . . . And by the way, Mr. Weatherman, do you like to fish? If not, try your luck and you'll see our point."

ANGLING ANGLES: Yes, the week-end was quite dismal at most spots, where surprising numbers of anglers braved the elements. . . . One of the few big specimens taken was the 15-lb., 10-oz. striper boated by Bill Poitras, of Buzzards Bay, Sunday afternoon. . . . Nat Sperber and Rudy Elie, Boston, were true optimists, playing their rods for hours in the North River, on the Sabbath, with nary a strike. . . . And thus it went elsewhere.

Skipper Charles Raymond writes that his charter boat, "Blue Bell," is available for parties accommodating up to 12 anglers. This 35-foot craft is docked at the Onset Wharf, ready to sail for striper, or ground fishing. . . . Complete lists of boats in the Buzzards Bay area may be obtained at the local bait and tackle shops.

CLUB CHATTER: Jack Hughes, crack shot of the Fall River Rod and Gun Club, has developed a new pre-fabricated, steel trap house, which can be erected in 12 minutes. Such house will prove a boon to clubs with trap fields, we believe. For plans and data, write to Jack Hughes, 134 Durfee St., Fall River.

The regular monthly meeting of the North Shore Sportsmen's Club will take place tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock, in Community Hall, Aiden St., East Lynn, according to secretary Earl Lawrence.

Battle River

Men struggle with sand bags to bolster the river levee near Hannibal, Mo., as the rampaging Mississippi river threatens to break through and inundate a power plant. The river is still rising. More rain is forecast for the stricken area.

One Man On a Raft

Victim of the floods now sweeping the Mississippi River Valley, this crippled man of Canton, Mo., paddles along courageously on his improvised raft, using his crutches to propel him as he seeks to reach high ground and safety.
